DIVIDE ANNEX CUTS STATION

On the Divide Annex the company is cutting a station at 250 feet. The work should be completed in two or three days when a crosscut will be run due north with its objective 150 feet from the shaft. Before reaching that point there are two well defined ledges and cross fractures which may prove up something. The shaft entered barocella at 195 feet and from 200 down bunches of quartz were picked up. After lateral work begins sinking will be reduced with the intention of going another 100 feet. The Divide Annex is well financed having sufficient funds in the treasury to operate for a year without selling any more stock.

The loss will not exceed $100. Charles A. Adams, who was working in the shed when the fire was produced by friction of silk, sustained burns on both hands. Fire Chief Adkins will prosecute Jefferson for starting the fire within the fire limits. No insurance.

RECORD PRICE FOR APRICOTS

SILVER PEAK MAN KILLS SELF AT VENICE

(By Associated Press.)
VENICE, Calif., Aug. 12.—A body identified as that of J. J. Delano of Silver Peak, Nevada, 30 years old, was found on the beach with a heavy revolver clutched in his hand. A note found in a pocket asked the officer to notify Miss Dorothy Delano of Silver Peak.

The Divide Extension has opened another body of highgrade that rivals the jewelry shop presented last week when the crosscut was extended from the 100-foot level. This time the find is made in a raise from the 100 level directly under the rich ore body exposed on the 50-foot level which started the rush of buying orders two months ago. The raise is up 12 feet in a body of ore that will run whatever the fancy chooses to conjecture and which, for want of a better form is set down as sample anywhere between $1200 and $4000. The raise was put up in the north crosscut and the full face shows a conglomerate of hornsilver and gold that does not need the services of an assayer to convince anyone of its value.

The spectacular discovery caused the stock of the Divide Extension to take a fresh start upward registering a maximum of $2.25 with a strong buying demand. The significance of the discovery in the north crosscut is that it established beyond cavil the existence of two enormously rich ore bodies 150 feet apart that will probably merge in a still greater enrichment at depth.
